Fundamentally, Layers are the keys to everything in Photoshop. You can't change a single aspect of a photo without using layers, and Photoshop features extensive layers so that they can be used almost as easily as building blocks. We then use the magic wand to select the areas of the image that we want to work on. We can remove the background from the selection or reduce it to a specific color. If we remove the background, the layer becomes white with a black background. The layer looks like this: Next we duplicate this layer and change the blend mode to multiply. We can do this by selecting Layer⇒Blend Mode⇒Multiply: We then click with the white layer to change the color to black. Next we
